WHAT IS A COMMUNITY CARE HUB?

A Community Care Hub (CCH) is a community-focused entity that organizes and supports a network of community-based organizations providing services and resources to address health and daily living needs and expand participation in evidence-based programming. It centralizes administrative functions and operational infrastructure.

The CCH is a trusted, local connector that can serve as a one-stop shop for a variety of needs including affordable housing, nutritious food, and reliable transportation.

HOW IT WORKS

1. Referral

Consult with your electronic health record team to add the CCH as a referral option.

2. Patient Assessment

The CCH conducts a comprehensive assessment to understand the patient's specific needs and identifies appropriate services from their network.

3. Community Referral

The CCH connects the patient with the right resources and the right organization.

4. Care Coordination

The CCH monitors the patient's progress and communicates updates to the healthcare provider to ensure coordinated care.

KEY BENEFITS

Improved Access to Social Services

Patients can readily access a wide range of social services like housing assistance, food security, transportation, and mental health support through a single referral point.

Reduced Administrative Burden

Healthcare providers don't need to navigate multiple referral pathways to different social service agencies, simplifying the process.

Efficient Care Coordination

By addressing daily living needs through coordinated referrals, the CCH can contribute to better overall patient health outcomes.

Holistic Patient Care and Outcomes Reporting

The CCH manages the referral process, identifying the most appropriate community-based organizations to meet a patient's specific needs and improve outcomes. The CCH coordinates communication between healthcare providers and social service providers.
